

News from the editors

In the following months we will start publishing new papers that have been accepted for publication in Advance Access. Advance Access papers are articles yet not paginated for inclusion in an issue of the journal. With this new initiative papers will be launched although they are out of step with the journal's usual rhythm. Papers published in Advance Access will be included in a forthcoming issue, and then be removed from Advance Access.

Bente Kjærgård,
Co-editor